Easy origami with paper

I’m back with some more easy origami crafts. If you’re new to origami all thirty of these designs are a fantastic place to start and so much fun to make.I’m always looking for more simple origami crafts to share with you. You can find all my past origami projects here. There’s nothing I love more than a simple but effective papercraft.My favourite things about origami (apart from the fact you don’t need lots of fancy equipment to get started) is how easy it is with just a few folds to make a cute cat, crown or coaster. There’s something magical about being able to turn a simple piece of paper into a 3D model, don’t you think? All of the projects included have clear step by step tutorials with either photos or videos showing you exactly how to make them.I recommend starting with a straightforward model that takes ten steps or less for total beginners or young kids. The cute cat, dog or rainbow birthday crown are great ones to try.Once you’ve mastered them, you can move up to slightly more complicated (but still fairly easy) projects like the classic crane or the beautiful paper flower wreath.I’m sure you’re going to love all the projects in this roundup as they’re all fantastic. If you want to be able to refer back to them later make sure to download the FREE Fillable PDF checklist below. That way you won’t lose track of the projects. Origami PaperScissorsGluePens to decorate.I always recommend using origami paper although any thin paper will do. If you don’t have any origami paper on hand here are a few alternatives that you probably already have at home.I even have some printable origami paper you can download and use for FREE. Simply download, print and cut into 7x7-inch squares. Can’t wait to start folding? Then check out my 30 favourite Easy Origami Crafts below! It uses a bird base, which is a square base plus two petal folds. Traditionally, folding a thousand paper cranes is said to grant you the right to make one special wish. Chrissy Pk Next up is this lovely modular origami cube box, made from six Sonobe units. These make great decorations or they can be used as gift boxes. If you use several different colored sheets of paper, they have a pretty patchwork effect. Chrissy Pk Spinning tops are popular paper toys for children. This design uses six sheets of paper that are joined together, offering a unique opportunity for mixing and matching different origami paper patterns. These would look pretty hanging in a nursery as part of an origami mobile. Chrissy Pk This origami tulip flower also has a stem that it fits onto. You will need two sheets of square paper for this one. Make a few and add them to a vase for a handmade origami flower arrangement. Continue to 5 of 10 below. Chrissy Pk This useful origami envelope wallet is quick and easy to make. Use the wallet to keep your cash, or stash store receipts and coupons inside. Make it as a gift for a friend or relative using a paper in their favorite color. Chrissy Pk This origami box, perfect for candy or snacks, is tapered at the top so anything inside will stay put. These take a bit longer than a regular Masu box, but the end result is worth the time. Consider making these as party favors for a special event. Chrissy Pk This is a nifty origami tissue paper holder for your handbag. It's a cinch to make when you follow the origami diagram. When you're done, use your tissue holder to store folded tissues to be pulled out neatly. Chrissy Pk These origami fans couldn't be easier to make. They're great decorations for parties and weddings. You can also make little origami earrings with these. Consider making special gifts for friends by using richly patterned chiyogami paper. Continue to 9 of 10 below. Chrissy Pk This traditional origami boat is perfect for a beginner origami project. It's also a wonderful toy, as it can float on water. Fold several to create a bathtub fleet for a child. To make the paper boat move through the water, put a drop of liquid soap at the back of the boat. The changing surface tension will propel the boat forward. paperkawaii.com Learn how to fold an easy paper plane. It's a great activity for kids and the steps are simple to remember after following the diagram a few times. This particular plane is officially an origami project, but there are many ways to fold paper planes to create unique designs and flight patterns. Cutting up documents and papers can be a chore. That’s where shredders can be invaluable. If you don’t have a personal home shredder or have too many paper documents to eliminate, you may need to find a shredding service.What Types of Documents Should You Shred?Shredding documents can prevent identity theft. What documents or papers should you shred? Here’s a thorough list, according to FightIdentityTheft.com: Junk mail, pre-approved credit card applications or other mail offering creditBank statements, canceled and voided checks and ATM receiptsCredit card bills and receiptsCredit reportsInvestment, stocks and property documentsDocuments containing passwords, Social Security numbers and PIN numbersMedical and dental recordsEmployee or other IDsLegal documents and contractsDriver’s licenses and anything with a driver’s license numberUtility billsAnything related to taxes or tax forms, pay stubs and employment recordsAnything with your signatureResumes and report cardsShredders can handle credit cards and CDs, as well. It may seem like every piece of paper needs to be shredded, but if you want to stay safe, it’s worth taking the time.Types of ShreddersShredders have evolved over the years as identity theft has increased. The smaller the pieces, the more difficult they are to reconstruct, according to Angie’s List. Here are several types of shredders: Cross-cut shredders cut paper into tiny diamond shapes. Particle-cut shredders create tiny confetti-style particles. Grinder shredders have rotating blades that create dust-like particles that are small enough to go through a mesh screen. Strip-cut shredders, the most common type, cut paper into strips and are considered the least secure. Paper Shredding EventsYour community may hold a paper shredding event that you’ll hear about in the local paper or local news. They’re usually held at the town dump, community center, beach or another public area of town. Events may limit participants to a few boxes of documents to be shredded. You may be able to find free paper shredding locations or have to pay a nominal fee.Though a public paper shredding services event sounds ideal, is it safe? Most likely it is safe because professional shredding trucks and machines are used and operated by professional shredding personnel, according to IdentityForce.com. In most cases, shredding is done on the spot so you can witness the destruction first hand.Mobile Paper Shredding ServicesMobile paper shredding services let you watch your papers become destroyed so you have peace of mind. Typically, a shred truck is equipped with an industrial strength shredder, states ShredNations.com, a shredding service. Many offices and companies use mobile shredding, but it’s also a service for personal use, as well.Drop Off Shredding LocationsMost office supply or servicing stores offer shredding, such as Staples, Kinko’s, FedEx and UPS stores. Call your local store to confirm services and prices, which tend to cost about $1 or more per pound of paper to shred, according to FightIdentityTheft.com.Look for a data and records management company near you. These types of companies do large-scale shredding for businesses and possibly offer residential services. For example, Iron Mountain has a residential shredding service in various East Coast locations. MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET
